

Christi Scarrow

My Passion

I am fighting for every voice that gets lost in the darkness. I will help you to share your voice, influence others and embrace possibility.

I am at war with misinformation and every tightly held belief that threatens our future. I will help you to uncover your assumptions, consider new perspectives and create change.

I believe in a world where our opinions are not daggers but instead a pathway to connection. I will help you to build trust with those you are in conflict with and build harmonious relationships.

Potential Interview Topics:

- Why we need more and less conflict
- How to get accountability right
- Finding commonality in a divided world
- Why its more important to be kind, than nice
- Understanding your truth and the truths of others
